DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Allowable Subject Matter

1. The indicated allowability of claims 8-24 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Sherwood et al (6,324,263). Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant Admitted prior art (MPEP 2129) in view of Sherwood et al (6,324,263).

Consider claims 1, 4, 7-8, 14 and 15, Applicant Admitted prior art disclosed a Private Branch Exchange (PBX) apparatus and method for transmitting and receiving CID (Caller ID) comprising: an Analog Trunk Convergency (ATC) circuit for converging with an exchange in the PBX connected to the exchange; a Subscriber Line Convergency (SLC) circuit for transmitting CID and/or data by converging with a subscriber line connected to each port; a control block for controlling a CID service for the analog trunk and the subscriber line circuits; a data path control circuit for controlling data transmission through a data path between the ATC circuit and the SLC circuit; a signal transmitting/detecting circuit for performing signal transmitting and/or detecting through the data path; and a switching circuit for connecting the data path between the ATC and SLC circuit, and for selectively switching the data path between the signal transmitting/detecting block (see Figures 1-3 and col. 1 ¶ 003-0015).

Applicant admitted prior art do not disclose of a Private Branch Exchange (PBX) apparatus and method having a CID service circuit including CID and signal detecting unit and a CID and signal transmitting unit that each perform digital processing on the CIDs and signals.

However, Sherwood et al disclosed of a caller ID circuits that may be included within the circuitry in a PBX (i.e., integrated or incorporated in the PBX circuitry) (see Fig. 18; col. 23 lines 14-32).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary to move or incorporate the caller ID service circuit into the PBX for simplifying the control by placing or distributing the caller ID service circuit with various network elements instead of centralized services.

Consider claims 2-3, 5-6, 9-13 and 16-24, Figures 1-3 and col. 1 ¶ 003-0015 of the Applicant admitted prior art disclosed the claimed features.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
